ABOUT ME

During last three years my time was mostly occupied by working toward obtaining my business management bachelor, as well as working as a personal assistant of an event manager and lately as an event manager myself. The idea of becoming a Web- Dev came to my mind during the last year of studying, when I had my first contact with HTML and CSS at one of extra courses offered by University. Structuring information and shaping their design got me hooked immediately. Since then, I knew that someday I want to combine my managerial education with perfected knowledge of programming into position of Project Manager/Senior Developer. I believe that my work in Your company will be a stepping stone in that direction.

PROJECTS

Pokémon Battle Simulator

Link: https://github.com/MateuszKowalskiCL/PokemonGame-simplified
Pokémon Battle Simulator is a JavaScript Based game, build in React framework and utilizing ReduxJS library. The main purpose of the game is to recreate turn based Pokémon battles from Pokémon franchise. Finished game was published on the few groups for Junior-Devs. Currently, I am implementing small adjustments and fixing minor bugs in game mechanics. In the future, I am planning to create better animations for Pokémon attacks.
